

Tiny Tigers mud kitchen.

As you may be aware we have recently created a mud kitchen in our nature area to enable the children to expand their natural curiosity exploring the world around them.

We believe sensory play has a positive impact on children's learning and development and we are keen to provide additional sensory rich experiences for your children.

For more information see: www.muddyfaces.co.uk or google mud kitchen.

Children also need to stay warm and comfortable and mud kitchen play is likely to be wet and messy. Waterproofs and wellies offer the best protection for most of the year or old clothes and crocs/jelly shoes in warmer weather.

Please could you supply your child with suitable clothes in a named bag to enable them to join in with fun in the mud kitchen.

www.sportsdirect.com are currently holding a sale on waterproofs.

If you have any questions regarding the mud kitchen please do not hesitate to speak to a member of staff.

Many Thanks
